How The Fordney Tariff Affects
Western Canada

Western Canadian producers will be interested in some of the provisions of the new United States Tariff. This high wall tariff is certainly exclusive, and to a large extent will affect Western Canada trade in a detrimental way. A glance through the tariff leaves the impression that it was framed with the idea of shutting out Western Canada products. The following quotations will show the position under the old tariff and the increases under the new one:—

Dairy Products—Butter, oleomargarine etc., increased from 2½¢ to 8¢ per pound; cheese from 20¢ ad val. to 5¢ per pound; milk free under old tariff, now 2½¢ per gal; Cream, free to 20¢ gal; milk condensed or evaporated, free to 1¢ to 1½¢ per pound.

Cattle—Weighing less than 1050 lbs. free under old tariff, now 1½¢ per pound; weighing over 1050 lbs., free, now 2¢ per pound.

Sheep—Formerly free, now $2. per head.

Wool—Formerly free, now 11¢ to 31¢ per pound.

Grains—Wheat formerly free, now 30¢ per bushel; wheat flour free, now 78¢ per 100 lbs.; flaxseed, increased from 20¢ to 40¢ per bushel; barley, from 15¢ to 20¢ per bushel; oatmeal and rolled oats, from 30¢ to 60¢ per 100 lbs.; rye, free, to 15¢ per bushel; bran, shorts etc., from 10¢ or free to 15¢ ad val.; all classes grass seeds, from free to 1¢ to 4¢ per pound.

Logs—Fir, spruce, cedar, hemlock, formerly free, now $1. per 1000 ft.; manufactures of wood, increased from 15¢ to 33 1-3%.

Vegetables in the natural state, from 15% to 25%.

Meats, prepared or preserved, free to 20%.

Fall Plowing Kills Grasshoppers

Professor E. H. Strickland, government entomologist has prepared a circular containing valuable advice to farmers in the area in which grasshoppers gave trouble this year. Some of this advice is pertinent to the fall season. Mr. Strickland says:— "The destructive grasshoppers lay their eggs during August and September either in sod (Roadside Grasshopper) or in stubble and deserted land (Lesser Migratory and Two-striped Grasshopper), and no eggs are laid in land that has been summer-fallowed. Where it is practicable from a cultural point of view all stubble land that is to be seeded next year should be deeply ploughed this fall as soon as the crop has been removed. The ploughing will bury any eggs that have been laid so deeply that they will not hatch in the spring, and it will prevent any further egg-laying in the field so ploughed.

Early fall disking is less effective than ploughing though it will lessen subsequent egg laying, and all eggs that are brought to the surface will be destroyed by the sun.

When fall ploughing is not advisable or practicable, stubble land should be ploughed to a depth of not less than eight inches before seeding in the spring. Care must be taken to see that the furrows are well turned over and the plough should be followed with a packer. When this work is well done very few hoppers will reach the surface.

Spring disking unless followed by ploughing is of little value, and it may do more harm than good, for it merely buries the eggs to different depths in loose earth, with the result that the hatching period is greatly prolonged, and fields that have been so treated require frequent poisoning in order to catch the constant hatching grasshoppers as soon as they appear, and before they have done much damage to the crop.

In the more sandy districts which are infested with the Lesser Migratory and Two-striped Grasshoppers, the problem of control is more difficult, since these species lay their eggs promiscuously in stubble land and in deserted fields, and do not gather into breeding areas. No crops should be sown on stubble land in such districts unless it has been deeply ploughed, and any rye that is stubbled in this fall will be seriously infested.

Deserted lands and fields that are to be summer-fallowed next year constitute a serious menace to all crops in the district, and the best method of handling them requires careful consideration.

Whenever possible summer-fallowing should be started early in the season, while the ground is still moist. The fields should be ploughed from the edges towards the centre, or in strips so that the Grasshoppers that have hatched will be herded together. These must be poisoned before the ploughing is completed.

The Alberta exhibit, which has been touring American State fairs, will be taken to exhibitions at Twin Buttes Montana, Pendleton, Oregon and Walla Walla, Washington. The exhibit has attracted much attention at the Montana and Utah State fairs, and should do much to acquaint Uncle Sam's people with the diversified resources of the best province north of the 49th.

Change of Venue Granted
The Times, being a day late, is in a position to state that on Friday,

PLANS MEMORIAL TO ALL DEAD SOLDIERS

An exhibition of Antonio Sciortino's "Monument of the Nations" will be opened in Rome in the Fall, and the model, as well as thousands of sketches and plans, is to be on view in his studio at the British Academy, says a Rome correspondent of the New York Tribune. This monument is one of the most pretentious ever planned in modern times. In conception it can be compared only to the wonderful basilica of Imperial Rome. It was in 1917 that Professor Sciortino, pondering over the war in which millions of soldiers were killed, planned a monument which would be a fitting one for the heroic dead, as well as a museum and temple combined. His original idea was that it should be an international monument, one which could be erected on some historic spot, on a battlefield. He suggested to many friends that, while the bones scattered over many battlefields could be interred in the walls of the crypt, one central tomb should be a memorial for all, whether private or officers. On the sketches which he made in 1917 he wrote: "Plans for a monument to an unknown soldier and sailor." It was his idea that millions should consider that tomb the resting place of their own lost sons.

A Noble Plan

The monument is a building which will consist of three galleries, a library and a museum. In the first gallery there will be 300 instrumental percussions, which will be heard for miles around; in the second, 300 bells, which will peal on commemorative days, while in the central hall there will be an organ, to be played on solemn occasions. In whatever country it is erected it would be not only a monument to the memory of the fallen soldiers, but also a kind of Westminster Abbey, where men of note would be buried. Antonio Sciortino, who occupies the post of director of arts at the British Academy in Rome, is a man of great talent, and is considered by many art critics to be the leading British sculptor of today. He studies not only in Rome, but also in Paris. Though still a young man (he is thirty-nine years old) he has accomplished much. He works quickly, modeling with a rapidity which is contrary to the custom of many modern sculptors. His quickest bit of work was a mask made when he was in Paris ten or twelve years ago while visiting a friend's studio. It happened to be his last day in Paris and he had called in to say good-bye to a fellow sculptor. He had only twenty minutes to spare. Seated in a corner, in an easy chair, was Leo Textorius, the American pianist, who had often asked Sciortino to make a model of his head. Sciortino took up a piece of clay, and in little more than fifteen minutes had modeled a mask of the pianist.

The Mask Stolen

This mask was hanging in the American artist's studio when Rodin paid a visit there. Rodin was enthusiastic at the originality of the work. He asked to have a model made for him. The mask was later exhibited in an art show in Rome, but just before the tour of inspection it was stolen from its place on the wall and never has been found. Only the photo of the mask remains. The copy, made for Rodin, forms part of his collection. The winning of the competition in 1914, offered by the Duma committee of Kieff, was not only a personal, but an international, success, as 300 sculptors of all nations competed for five years. Three times Sciortino competed and won money prizes. When in 1914 he won again it was decided to give him the order for the statue. The decision of the committee caused great indignation throughout Russia.

Outdistanced the Russians

The committee then decided to hold a referendum. All the prominent men and women of Russia were asked to view the model and decide whether the Russian models were equal to that of the British sculptor. They unanimously held that the statue chosen was best of all the other 299. This referendum was taken carefully. The written opinions were placed in sealed envelopes, in a sealed box, and only opened after all had finished voting. The occupation of the City of Moscow by the Bolsheviks prevented the statue ever being erected, and the final award was never given to the sculptor. Now an effort is being made by the committee to collect subscriptions for the purpose of erecting the statue.

Another competition which Sciortino won, but which never has been executed, is a statue of the Russian playwright, Anton Chekhov, which was ordered before the revolution. The committee, whose headquarters are in Paris, have postponed the erection of it in Chekhov's birthplace, as it is occupied by the Bolsheviks. In this case the latter have tried to obtain the model by offering the artist a huge sum of money, which he has naturally refused, as the model belongs to the old committee. For two years this model has been ready for casting, and probably another year will pass before any decision is taken by the two committees. When packed ready for shipment it will be twenty-four feet square, and, owing to its size, will be many months on its journey from Rome to Moscow, where the Bolsheviks intend holding solemn ceremonies, if they succeed in obtaining permission for its erection.

TURKS ACCEPTED TERMS

Mudania, Oct. 11.—The armistice convention was signed here last night at 11 o'clock. The representatives of the Turks and of all powers concerned affixed their signatures to the revised protocol, which General Harrington has presented for acceptance to Ismet Pasha and which the Nationalist delegates had previously forwarded to the Ankara government for its decision.

General Harrington had informed Ismet Pasha that the convention embodied Great Britain's last word and that the other powers gave their unqualified support to the terms. "You have said that your every desire is for peace," continued General Harrington. "It seems to me that the allied powers offer it to you. All of your new aspirations will be attained without loss of human life, without danger to the future peace and prosperity of your country. Your aims will be entirely within your hands within forty-eight hours. We offer you peace. We hope you will accept it."

On his part, Ismet had replied that he hoped his government would accept conditions set forth and promised a reply by five o'clock in the evening. In the meantime, the British commander returned to Constantinople where he remained until early in the afternoon, going back to Mudania on the Iron Duke to hear the Turk's decision.

Fred has always been interested in with which the Admiral made his suc-

descendants of that pack which you can see dragging the sled across the will open at the Empress Theatre for a two day's run next Monday.

You can see Fred, too, if you look sharp. He is the Royal Northwest

Fred is an authority on archeology and ethnology, having studied the subjects while in the Government service at Taos, N. M., where he helped the Taos Indians in ridding the reservation of troublesome squatters so successfully that they made him a member of the tribe.

Then he accepted a position as tech-lore for picture directors. When he is working on a picture, his wife nearly always plays a part in it. They worked on "The Round-Up," "Behold

even one or two can be. But imagine having your whole body almost entirely covered with them! I am a watchmaker by trade, making a specialty of repairing the highest grade movements. This is probably the most trying of any mechanical work, particularly for a nervous individual like me. Working under great strain both day and night for three months, my physical condition steadily collapsed.
I was so irritable and nervous that the slightest thing would send me up in the air. If I managed to get a few hours of sleep at night I was lucky.
I had no appetite for food. I certainly was miserable. During this time boils began to appear on different parts of my body and the pain from them made life a misery. My suffering was so great at times that I felt there was nothing left for me to do but to end it all. I consulted doctors but they all told me that if I didn't give up my work and live out of doors, I would go into decline. As I had no money I couldn't do this. In fact paying doctors' bills and buying medicines used up all the money I made. Finally in desperation, I decided that I would either kill or cure myself, so I began to study my case. I realized that I was completely run down as any one could possibly be with a bad case of boils. I had tried everything I had done more than months of travel abroad. I feel like a two-year old.
I sleep eight hours every night and eat three good meals a day. My skin is like a baby's, free from blemishes of any kind and I have now almost forgotten that I have ever had such things as boils. I want everybody who is ailing to know about Carnol, because I have such faith in it I believe it will cure any human ailment."

MR. J. H. MC C.

nearly a mile long, and its said to furnish one of the most thrilling rides to be found in that neighborhood.

The picture for which the trip was made, "Over the Border," features Miss Compson and Tom Moore, with an excellent supporting cast. It was written by Sir Gilbert Parker. It will open at the Empress Theatre next Monday. The supporting cast is strong and the situations are highly dramatic.

BETTY COMPSON COMING

Betty Compson and Tom Moore, featured players in "Over the Border," a new Paramount picture dealing with bootlegging operations along the Canadian border, which comes to the Empress Theatre next Monday and Tuesday are finely cast in that strong production.

TOM MOORE COMES BACK

He's Featured With Betty Compson
in "Over the Border"

Do you remember the stirring days in the Spring of 1917? Tom Moore, featured player in "Over the Border," associates the fifth anniversary of America's entry in the war with another fact: he was at that time working in his last Lasky picture until he returned exactly five years later to play this part opposite Betty Compson in the Penrhyn Stanlows production which will open next Monday at the Empress Theatre.

The picture was "The Jaguar's Claws," with Sessue Hayakawa starred, and Fritz Brunette as the leading woman. Seems quite a while ago, eh? However, Tom has been quite busy since then, becoming a star in his own right, and famous for his "mick" characterizations. He admits, though, that he likes better being a romantic leading man, as in his present role of Tom Flaherty, a Northwest Mounted Police officer.

"CHEATED HEARTS" HAS STRONG CAST

The strength of the cast in "Cheated Hearts," the Universal feature which brings Herbert Rawlinson in a stellar role to the screen of the Empress Theatre on Friday and Saturday, is attested to by the fact that Josef Swickard, famed as the French father of "The Four Horsemen," will be seen in a characterization that is hardly more than a flash on the screen. But it was determined by Irving G. Thalberg general manager at Universal City and Har-bert Henley, the director of "Barry Gordon," that every figure in the story should stand out as a masterpiece of acting, and so only players of prominence and known ability were chosen for the support of Rawlinson.

TANGIER'S LOCALE OF COMING FEATURE

Sets for "Cheated Hearts," the Universal Special Attraction starring

Herbert Rawlinson, which comes to the Empress Theatre next Friday and Saturday, includes scenes in America, Paris, Morocco and the wild regions adjacent to the civilized portion of the latter country.

Both Mr. Rawlinson and his director, Herbert Henley, have traveled over a good portion of the earth's surface, and their itineraries included Tangiers.
So, with help of the scenic experts at Universal City, an unusually accurate series of settings was secured.

In "Cheated Hearts," a cast of players whose names are very familiar to the public will be seen. Included are Marjorie Daw, popular young leading woman; Doris Pawn, Warner Baxter, Winter Hall, Josef Swickard—the French father in the "Four Horsemen"— Anna Lehr, Hector Sarno, Al and Murdoch McQuarrie and Boris Karloff. The star is known as an actor of years of experience on both stage and screen.

Mr. Henley's direction was based on Wallace Clifton's adaptation of the Payson book.

"THE GLORIOUS FOOL" A COM- EDY ROMANCE BY MARY ROBERTS RINEHART

Famous American Author Writes a Charming And Entertaining Love Story

Whether they know it or not, all authors write about themselves or their friends. Mary Roberts Rinehart, who wrote the story of the new Goldwyn photoplay, "The Glorious Fool," which will come to the Empress Theatre, for two days, beginning Wednesday next, knew intimately the source from which her story came. In her youth, Mrs. Rinehart was a hospital nurse; and no doubt the part of the pretty probationer, played by Helene Chadwick, was suggested by some lovely nurse the authoress had known.

The story begins with the marriage of an inexperienced probationer to a private patient who is on the point of death. The patient is desirous of cheating his vulturous relatives of his fabulous fortune; and the poor, wretched nurse consents to the marriage only when she feels that her patient will not die content unless she acquiesces in his wishes. But the man gets well—uncomfortably well.
And what is more, knows that he is in love with his nurse.

Then hospital politics come into play. The little nurse is transferred to a maternity ward, where her sympathies again cause her to do something that nurses simply don't do.
And when it appears that she is about to be dismissed, that she has been a complete failure, fortune takes a turn and shows her many things she never guessed were in its wheel.
The rich patient in the case is played delightfully by Richard Dix.
Mrs. Rinehart has expressed her pleasure at the excellent production and the consummate direction given
"The Glorious Fool" by E. Mason Hopper. Under his Guidance, the picture is a sweet romance with many tense moments that dissolve into happy events.

Red Cross Notes

For the second successive year a Junior Membership Campaign will be held in connection with the Red Cross Drive, which is to take place this year from November 5 to 11. In June, 1921, the Junior Red Cross decided to stage a campaign for membership in order to raise sufficient funds to open a hospital for unfortunate children of the province; those whose parents were not in a position to give them the treatment they needed.

At that time 13500 Junior members were enrolled in the province and in May of this year the Junior Red Cross Hospital was opened in Calgary. This year an objective of 40,000 junior members has been set and if this number is enrolled it will be possible to operate this institution at full capacity for another year. Each child who joins the Red Cross will only have to pay a fee of 25 cents and every cent raised will go to the upkeep of the Hospital. None of this money will be taken for administration or other expenses.

The hospital has room to accommodate 38 patients at one time and it has been filled to capacity almost every day since it opened. This is the only children's Hospital in Canada which is supported altogether by children.

Every few days a patient comes out and returns to its parents cured and a new one comes in to take its place.

It must not be forgotten that the parents of the children who are given treatment at this institution are unable to pay for it, and so the Junior members are doing a work which otherwise would be left undone.

All children who are at present members of the Junior organization are asked to bring in at least two more members.

DISTRICT GIRLS CONFERENCE AT NANTON

At a meeting held recently in Nanton, called by Miss Story, Girls Work Secretary for Alberta, it was decided by the local committee to hold a district C. G. I. T. Conference at Nanton on Saturday, Oct. 21st. The district includes the territory from Okotoks to Macleod and outlying points. Each C. G. I. T. group is entitled to send four girls and a leader.
Any S. S. not having a C. G. I. T. group may send two delegates of "teen age. All delegates should register their names with Miss Mabel Hower of Nanton by Oct. 17th. A registration fee of fifty cents should accompany the application.

The forenoon session, beginning at 10.00 o'clock will consist of group discussions by Conference leaders.
Competitive games and an educational tour will be provided for the afternoon.
A banquet at 6.00 P. M. with full toast list will conclude the day's programme.

This Conference should help the girls of this district to get off to a good start in their fall work.

Christmas In The Old Country— Special Arrangements

A visit to the Old Country is something that a great number of people are giving thought to at this season of the year, and many have already made plans to reach their friends in time for the Christmas and New Year Season.

Canadian Pacific Steamships are deserving popular for this trip and to give extra special accommodation for those who are going overseas this season, the Canadian Pacific Railway has arranged for a special train to connect with the S. S. "Montcalm" sailing from St. John, Tuesday, December 12th. Through tourist sleepers will be operated from Edmonton at 10.00 p.m. Thursday December 7th and from Calgary at 1.35 a.m. Friday December 8th, making connection with this special train leaving Winnipeg 9.20 a.m.
December 9th.

Special tourist sleepers from Calgary, Edmonton, via regular trains will also be operated in connection with the sailings from St. John of the S. S. "Montrose" on December 1st. S.
S. "Victorian" December 7th. S. S.
"Melita" December 9th. S. S. "Met-agama" December 15th.

All these tourist sleepers run right to the ship's side no changes, no inconvenience. They are the gang plank to the steamer. 31-3t

ENGLAND'S ALLIES

Britannia fronts the gathering blast,
Her look is proud and high—She counts the "Anarch" armies vast, Hears Freedom's warning cry.

The Turk has shown his hand again!
Rape and murder, blood and lust,
And Christian women foully slain.
Bolshevik forces gather fast,

Brute hordes of stupid night Where'er their blighting steps have passed Die Freedom, life and light.

While in our midst a well trained gang,
False friend, and bitter foe;
Waits as of old with venomous fang
To strike the serpent's blow.

But not alone she fronts the storm,
But girt by stalwart ones Who gather round her warlike form—Old England has her sons!

From the "True North" to India vast,
From every land and sea,
Her loyal hosts will gather fast,
Her "Sons of Liberty."

Forces of evil—think again!
Lest haply ye may own, Bloodstained and torn—in grief and pain—
The "Lion's whelps" have grown.

Envoi.
"All the hopes of Liberty—all that's best in man—Rally to her side in her great and trying hour.
Can it be that we the first of her free nations Will falter, and palter, and from the battle lower?"

LOCAL & PERSONAL

Quite a number of people took advantage of the ideal weather last Sunday to motor to Cardston to see the Mormon Temple. The Macleod visitors were: Mr. and Mrs. deRouville of Calgary, Margaret Watson, Nellie Watson, J. Day of Calgary, G. H.
Scougall and R. F. Barnes.

Special Thanksgiving services at Christ Church last Sunday elicited a good attendance and a generous offering was contributed toward Missions and other extra parochial funds. The Church was beautifully decorated with flowers, grains, fruits and vegetables.
The Rev. S. H. Middleton was the preacher at the evening service.

Allan Dunbar, the eight year old son of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Dunbar, was knocked down and run over by an automobile, when coming home from school on Thursday afternoon, receiving a nasty cut on the head and several bad bruises. The injured boy was taken to the Macleod Hospital.

Mrs. H. H. McLean was a charming hostess at the tea hour on Friday, October 6th, in the interest of the funds of St. Andrews Ladies Aid. A profusion of garden flowers and Autumn foliage founded a restful decoration in the reception rooms which were thronged with guests.
At the attractive tea table, Mrs.
Struthers presided, assisted by Mrs.
Chisholm and Misses Tabor. A neat sum was realized.

The Confetti dance held in the G.
W. V. A. Hall Wednesday night, drew a large crowd of dancers, not only from Macleod but also from Granum and the country. About 11 o'clock, the confetti dance was staged, and while the orchestra played a jazzy one-step, the confetti was thrown in all directions, and amid the usual babble of merry voices and laughter.
Supper was served at 12 o'clock, after which the dance continued until the early hours this morning.

PROHIBITION AND THE THREE MILE LIMIT

Canada, it is said, has protested to the American State Department against the disposition of certain agents of the United States revenue department to extend their activities beyond the three mile limit. They have asserted the right to board Canadian and other foreign vessels and search them for liquor and seize them when liquor is found, even if the search takes place ten miles from shore. They do so by the authority of a judgment of the United States Supreme Court which says that "a seizure, beyond the limits of the territorial jurisdiction, for breach of a municipal regulation, is warranted by the law of nations." But the Canadian contention will probably be that the United States Supreme Court has no jurisdiction beyond the United States, and that Canadians are not bound to accept its decisions on any matters not within its own jurisdiction. The American view in a recent case was that while the parent ship laden with rum was well beyond the three mile limit her small boats carrying cargoes had ventured inside the line and that the large rum-runner was thus implicated in unlawful operations taking place within American territorial waters. But this argument could hardly stand if the small boats did not belong to the large ship, if, for instance, they were the private motor launches of Americans engaged in smuggling the forbidden juice ashore.

A few days ago the British yacht, Onward, was hailed by revenue cutters some ten or twelve miles off the New Jersey coast, and commanded to heave to while a boarding party searched her. Captain Shears, the officer in command, refused to permit the search, and said he was prepared to use force to repel it. Therefore the prohibitionist agents prudently withdrew. But if they had happened to be led by a hot-head who knows but what blood would have been shed and an ugly international incident projected into friendly relations of the two powers? In its efforts to bring about foreign co-operation in enforcing the prohibition amendment, the United States does not appear with clean hands. Vessels flying the American flag and owned or operated by the United States Government itself through the Shipping Board, sell liquor on their ocean voyages. These vessels are as much American territory as is the Capitol at Washington. Why are they permitted to violate the law which is supposed to apply to all parts of the United States? Simply because they find it profitable to do so, and fear that they could not compete with British and French liners if they could not offer this accommodation to their passengers. Before the United States is in a position to ask foreign nations to aid her in carrying out a domestic law the United States should herself retire from the liquor selling business.

A POLL ON PROHIBITION

After polling a million votes in all parts of the United States, the Literary Digest announces that 40.8% favor a modification of the Volstead Act so that beer and wine can be sold; 20.6% favor repeal of the prohibition amendment altogether, and 38.6% favor strict enforcement. This is the most interesting poll ever taken on the question of prohibition in the U. S. for while in different States millions of people have voted at one time or another on the question, there has never been an expression of opinion from so large a body of people scattered throughout the country. National prohibition did not come as a result of a referendum. It was brought about by the action of the various State Legislatures, and in the end only one State Legislature voted against the amendment. This by no means implies that only one State was opposed to it, but legislators in States that were naturally wet saw no reason in casting wet votes after the prohibitionists had secured the necessary majority to bring about the amendment. They would only incur the hostility of the dries without being able to help the cause of the wets. So, like unsuccessful candidates for nomination, they "moved to make it unanimous." It is not plain that the poll conducted by the Digest will do more to help the wets than would have been the vote of New York State, for instance, after the issue was a foregone conclusion. But it is none the less interesting, especially since the readers and voters in the Digest's referendum would probably represent the views of the most enlightened classes of the community. Perhaps the most obvious deduction from the figures in the explanation of the comparative failure of the authorities to enforce the law. When only two people out of five are in favor of strict enforcement, it is plain that there will not be strict enforcement. The majority of the American people, if one is to accept the Digest's poll as being a fair indication, opposes the law as it now stands, for both those in favor of repeal and those in favor of modification must be set down as opposed to the Constitutional Amendment. That the poll is a fair indication may be assumed from the fact that 10,000,000 ballots were sent out, and in these cases a return of ten per cent is regarded as good. Moreover, the percentages varied but little since the first returns were published. The country people in Ohio were no more strongly in favor of strict enforcement than the country people in New York; while the town dwellers in Colorado were as favorable to amendment as the town dwellers in Massachusetts. The fact that there was no clear majority in favor of strict enforcement shows that even the women are far from unanimous on this point. It is shown too that the majority of the voters do not regard prohibition as a moral question, for those who do so regard it quite as immoral to drink a bottle of wine as a bottle of whiskey. The poll can have no particular effect upon the law nor upon its enforcement. There is little prospect that this generation will see the Eighteenth Amendment repealed.

Poppy Day

"Poppy" Day will be held in Canada as well as in all the Allied countries on Armistice Day, November 11. The Campaign in Alberta will be conducted by the Provincial Command of the Alberta Great War Veterans' Association, and the actual selling will be in the hands of the various locals throughout the province.

In this connection it is stated that there are a number of districts in Alberta where the veterans are not organized, and in such instances any other organization willing to conduct the campaign there is requested to get in touch with R. Gallacher, the Provincial Secretary, 207-8 Oddfellows Block, Calgary. It is hoped to have the province so organized that citizens in every district will have an opportunity to secure a poppy and wear it on Armistice Day.

The flowers will be sold during the week preceding Armistice Day. The entire proceeds from the fund raised will be used to relieve distress among disabled returned men and their dependents in the province. Every citizen is urged to wear a poppy in honour of the men who fought so bravely during the Great War and "In memory of those who lie amid the crosses."

G. W. V. A. PLANNING POPPY DAY HERE

Local Association Will Take Part in Dominion-Wide Movement

National Poppy Day will again be observed throughout Canada on Armistice Day, November 11. The G. W. V. A. have again undertaken the campaign, the proceeds of which will be distributed among needy returned men and dependents during the coming winter.

Last year the poppies used to mark the return of peace to the world after the greatest war of history, were made by the widows and orphans of French soldiers. They were all manufactured in France. This year the poppies to be distributed from national headquarters at Ottawa are being made in Canada by disabled veterans and the dependents of ex-service men.

The Macleod association is now busy preparing for Poppy Day in the city and district. Last year a large number of requests for poppy wreaths could not be filled owing to the orders being given to late. Any society, church or other organization wishing to secure wreaths this year should phone G. L. Pollard No. 122 not later than Wednesday Oct. 18th, in order to insure delivery.

The price of the wreaths this year will be as follows: Small Wreaths, $3.00; large wreaths, $4.00; palm wreaths, 4.50. Don't forget to place your orders early.

ST. ANDREW'S CHURCH

Miss Gay Honan will address morning and evening services on Sunday, October 22nd, and Right Rev. W. J. Clark, D. D., of Montreal, moderator of the General Assembly, will conduct services on Sunday, November 19th. On Sunday, November 26th, Services will be conducted by Dr. Nugent of India.

GIANTS WON

Polo Grounds, N. Y., Oct. 8.—The New York Giants are the kings of baseball. The National League champions by defeating the New York Yankees by a score of 5 to 1 this afternoon won the classic title. The series closed with the Giants winning four games, the Yankees none, with one game a tie. The game today looked like a victory for the Yankees until the eighth inning, when the Giants clawed Joe Bush for four smashing hits and sent three runners across the plate.

HE REIGNS

God gives us the seasons, the sunshine, the rain.
He colors the meadows and ripens the grain.
He builds up the mountains, majestic and high,
And paints in their colors the clouds of the sky.

He sends the loud winds through tree tops and glade,
And tints every bud with a different shade.

He lays out the landscape, the envy of man;
Supreme as an architect his, a wonderful plan.

He formed the deep valleys, the hill-side and plain,
Enriches the earth with fruit, herb and grain.

He provides in abundance all our need to supply, Watches o'er all his creatures with a great loving eye.

He limits the ocean, confines the deep sea, Controls every motion and atom that be.

He arches the heavens with dazzling light,
With sun, moon and stars to guide man aright.

He loves to enrich man, whose image he bears,
And lovingly helps him, delights in his prayers.
By night and by day a vigil he keeps,
With a fatherly love he ne'er slumbers nor sleeps.

He sends the bright Springtime, the joy-time of life;
The Summer, the flower time, of love, without strife,
And Autumn, when nature and man is mature,
And Winter, the grey time, which all must endure.

—James A. Brain.

HINDU DISABILITIES

("Times Of India"—Bombay)

It is abundantly clear that Canada is determined to keep the right to settle the character of the Canadian population, and Mr. Sastri's dignified acceptance of the situation makes the way easy to negotiations. Mr. Sastri has now to enquire under what disabilities the Indian population of Canada suffers and to bring the facts before the notice of the Canadian Government. Seeing that no attempt is being made to go behind what they consider their fundamental right, the statesmen of Canada should give cordial and sympathetic attention to any injustices which may be brought before their notice.

NOT THE CALIPH

("Al Watan"—Arabie)

The statement that the Sultan of Turkey is considered the Caliph of the Moslems is a question on which the Moslems are not unanimous, and there are still many right-thinking Moslems in all parts of the world who are of opinion that the Caliphate has not been transferred to the Sultan of the Ottomans.

FINDING A REMEDY

("Buluwayo Chronicle")

Here in South Africa we have now reached the same stage where California found itself years ago. We diligently devoted our attention to the work of production and left the sale of our products to chance, or in the hands of men who take no part in the work of production. That is why the position with the sale of our produce is now as it was with oranges in California. We now find that we have a surplus of produce in excess of the local demand, and the prices we receive are not remunerative, notwithstanding that the prices that consumers pay are high, and why? Because the buyers or intermediary agents are organised to their own advantage, and to the detriment of the producer and the consumer. If we do not help ourselves by organizing we shall have to cease farming, as it is not a paying proposition under present conditions, and if we allow it to come to that, we shall be a curse to ourselves and posterity, who will be exterminated.

POPULAR GARDENS

("London Daily Telegraph")

It is a sign of the times, and a thoroughly healthy and encouraging one, that to-day, long after the cessation of the stimulus of war conditions which brought about so vast a growth in the number of allotment holders, not only are their numbers undiminished, but there is a great unsatisfied demand for land to be turned to this purpose. The pre-war figure of 500,000 allotments in England and Wales is at present time trebled, and there are 50,000 applicants for whom land is not yet available; while thousands more would doubtless come forward if the allotments were ready for them.

THE WELDER

("Sunday Express"—London)

Some genius has invented the rivetless ship. He joins the plates together by means of electrical welding. The shipyard of the future will be a silence room. The deafening din of the riveters will be stilled. The plates will cleave together like the lips of lovers in a kiss. If only somebody could invent a method of welding nations by moral electricity. The world needs a quasi-arc which would blend warring races and make them strong in brotherly unity and amity. But it is easier to weld metals than to weld men. Christianity ought to be a quasi-arc. It ought to weld and not to sunder.

HINTS FOR TEMPLARS

("Natal Advertiser")....

To "see ourselves as others see us", is being taken up by temperance advocates as a new cure for drunkenness, and the cinema is being inspanned as intermediary. The Spartans, it will be recollected, used to make slaves drunk in order that their young men should see the folly of it, and now the idea is to take films of the toppers while they patiently fit their houses on to their latch keys. The new method may be expected to act well, for there is nothing more potent than ridicule in carrying out reform. The advocacy of temperance is apt to be rather dour. A little humour would liven it up immensely.

THE COST OF LIVING

("Johannesburg Times")

Everything has come down to such an extent in South Africa that it cannot come down much more, and the next movement must be upward. The country as a whole is struggling today not only with reduced income but with a burden of debt which accumulated during the upheaval. The debts are being wiped off—slowly, no doubt, but surely.

ON WINSTON'S TRAIL

("The Farmer's Journal"—Nairobi, East Africa)

When one reviews the history of the present Secretary of State, and remembers the ghastly wrecks which this political mountebank has left in the wake of his zigzag career, especially those of Gallipoli and Mesopotamia, one does not wonder that the history of Kenya as unfolded during the last few years shows such a topsy-turvy course under his guidance.

REMARKABLE CAREER OF GENEVIEVE WARD

Genevieve Ward, whom an older generation remembers as one of the greatest actresses of her day, and who died recently in London at the age of eighty-four, had a career as romantic as any of those stage heroines whom she so admirably impersonated. Miss Ward was not only a great actress, but a great woman, and by force of character surmounted obstacles that most women, and men too, would have found impassable. She came of an old English family which had settled in the United States, and she was born in New York in 1838. Much of her early life was spent in Paris, for her mother traveled a good deal in Europe for the education of her family, while Col. Ward, the father, remained in business in the death, the result of paralysis brought on by dissipation. She never fulfilled her original intention of seeking a divorce, though she had many offers, but concluded that one such adventure off the stage was enough.

Fine Voice Lost

The second tragedy in Miss Ward's career was the sudden loss of her voice. After separating from the Count she adopted the name of Mme. Guerabella, and studied for the operatic stage. She had a remarkable voice, a beautiful face and figure, and a rare sense of the dramatic. With this equipment she made rapid progress, and had a debut in Milan, where she sang "Luceria Borgia." She sang in other Italian cities, and then went to Paris, where she appeared in several noted operas of the Italian school. Later she proceeded to London, and had a triumph at Covent Garden. Then came the opportunity to satisfy her ambition to sing in the United States and Cuba, but there disaster awaited her. Suddenly her voice abandoned her, the result of overstrain, it was said, and the doors of the opera were forever closed to her. Fortunately, her speaking voice remained and her dramatic talents, and so she turned her thoughts to the theatre. It was there that she established the reputation that will live longest, and after a long and brilliant career she did not lose interest in the stage, but saw every new play, and acted in the revivals of most of the old ones, almost to the time of her death.

CHILDREN COMPETE FOR FORESTRY ESSAY PRIZE

Scores of school children in every school district of the Dominion are competing these days in the national school essay competition on Forestry and Tree Planting, inaugurated recently by the Canadian Forestry Association. Questions as to the forest resources of Canada, the damage done by forest fires, what trees to choose for planting and how to plant them are being asked by a multitude of young people and the resultant information is being applied to the essay competition. Three substantial cash prizes are being given in each province and the effect of the national effort to stimulate juvenile interest in the forest resources of the country and the multiple benefits of tree planting has secured the hearty endorsement of all the departments of education which are giving every co-operation.

MISS A. M. WILSON

REACH & Co.

DRY GOODS, BOOTS, SHOES GROCERIES, Etc.

Last week the biggest snap of Ladies' Oxford Shoes was shown in our window. These were identical with what was sold in our big cities at $11.00 and $13.50 per pair. We offered them at $5.00. Goodyear welt; so flexible; and the sole so that it could be wound on the hand. The reason we offered them at $5.00 was that the toes were too pointed, and the American welts, but by taking half a size over in many instances it was a perfect fit.

NIAGARA MAID HOSIERY

The news item published below is of more than passing interest to Macleod people in view of the fact that the local branch of the G. W. V. A. have for three years been making every effort to obtain a pension for the widow of the late Alex. Smith. Ottawa, Oct. 9.—The board of pension commissioners is to submit expert medical evidence to the Ralston commission in support of the view taken in the case of Private Alex. Smith, late of the 13th C. M. R., Macleod Alta., by Dr. W. A. Burgess, a medical adviser of the pensions board. The case of Private Smith is one of the 100 typical ones submitted by the G. W. V. A. to the commission, and when it was under review on Saturday, Col. Walter McKeown, medical member of the commission, took occasion to criticize Dr. Burgess for his attitude in regard thereto. Today, J. A. W. Paton, secretary of the pensions board, submitted a formal request that the board should be permitted to submit expert medical evidence in support of Dr. Burgess' view "The board of pension commissioners," said Mr. Paton, "has all along taken the stand that the question of the correctness of the correctness of medical decisions was not within the scope of the order-in-council instituting the commission. In the opinion of the board of pension commissioners, it is a question for the commission as to whether a man has, through ulterior motives, been deprived of his pension. Practically all of the 1300 files and others already submitted have been produced by the G. W. V. A. to show that decisions are incorrect."
